

Second Opinion Consult

Now you can hear it from the Experts!!! Not sure about what your semen report says about you. Let us review it and give you the facts!

- Have you ever felt overwhelmed with all the terms and definitions physicians use to explain your semen analysis results to you?
- Do you feel too embarrassed to ask questions about your semen analysis report?
- Do you sometimes wish that you could get a second opinion without having to leave your current physician?

If you answered "YES" to any of these questions, then we have the solution for you: The Second Opinion Consultation, from the World Renowned Male Infertility Expert. Due to the increased demand from patients all around the world, requesting that we review their semen analysis reports and their overall male evaluation, and to provide our expert opinion and recommendations, we are now offering this very popular service online.

Whether you are planning to undergo or have undergone IUI or IVF treatment, we can help you with your decision process. Before you invest thousands of dollars and a lot of emotions into your infertility treatment, you need to be sure that the procedure is the right one for you! If you have already undergone IUI or IVF treatment, we would be able to review your information, and provide you with recommendations on how to improve your chances for a successful pregnancy.

How does it work?

Once you place your order for the Second Opinion Consultation, you may send us copies of your semen analysis reports and any other relevant documentation that you may have, via an e-mail attachment (profzavo@gmail.com), fax (1-859-278-6906) or mail (P.O. Box 23777, Lexington, KY 40523, USA).

Once we receive your reports, our experts here at the Andrology Institute of America, will review your case and provide you with meaningful, easy-to-understand interpretation of your semen analysis results.

We would also be able to offer our recommendations and to further advise you on the best course of treatment for you to have "the Gift of Life", if applicable. Once we have reviewed your results and made our recommendations, we will mail a confidential report directly to you.

The information that we provide would be a useful tool for you to use, the next time you speak to your physician. We believe that a well-informed patient is the best patient, and the more you know about your problem, if any, the sooner you would be able to find a solution. We aim to steer you in the right direction as soon as possible, so that you do not waste your valuable biological time with procedures that will not yield the results you want.

You may have already gone through a great deal of frustrations, pressures and expenses, and you deserve to be guided in the right direction and to get the results that are proper for you. Give us the opportunity to assist you and you will never regret it.
